

Best paper award to Connor Behan and advisor Leonardo Rastelli

Written by Administrator
Friday, 22 February 2019 14:03

Their paper with S. Rychkov and S. Zan in Journal of Physics A was honored for "novelty, achievement, potential impact and presentation", for describing a new example of the extraordinary idea of duality.

Duality is a principle of physics that has only been recognized in the past few decades, in which two theories that are superficially different lead to the same physical consequences.